WILL YOU SPEND $2 TO SAVE YOUR HAIR?

How many hard-earned dollars have you spent to save your hair? How many hair tonics, gadgets, restorers, electrical devices, have you tried in the last few years -- with no success? How many times after an unsuccessful hair-growing attempt have you sworn not to spend another cent on another hair treatment?

Yet, you buy the next product that comes on the market with hair-growing claims.

CAN YOU GROW HAIR?

Doctors who have spent a lifetime studying hair and hair growth have concluded that nothing now known can grow hair on a bald head. They also believe that most all hair loss is the result of male pattern baldness, about which nothing can be done. So, if your hair loss is of this type, no product can help you.

HOW TO SAVE YOUR HAIR

But your hair loss may be caused by a common scalp disease called seborrhea. Read the rest of this statement carefully because if you have the symptoms of seborrhea the following information may add years to the life of your hair.

Itchy scalp, hair loss, dandruff, very dry or oily scalp, are the symptoms of this scalp disease. Not every case of seborrhea results in baldness, but doctors now know that men and women who have this scalp disease usually lose their hair.

Seborrhea is believed caused by three parasitic germ organisms (staphylococcus albus, pityrosporum ovale, microbacillus). These germs first infect the sebaceous glands and later spread to the hair follicles. The hair follicles atrophy, no longer can produce new hairs. The result is "thinning" hair and baldness.

But, today seborrhea can be controlled -- quickly and effectively -- by treating your scalp with the amazing scalp medicine called Ward's Formula.

DOUBLE MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

In seconds, Ward's Formula kills these three parasitic germ organisms retarding normal growth. This has been proven in scientific tests by a world-famous testing laboratory (copy of laboratory report sent on request). Ward's removes infectious dandruff, stops scalp itch, brings hair-nourishing blood to the scalp, tends to normalize very dry or oily scalp. Ward's Formula corrects the ugly symptoms of seborrhea, stops the hair loss it causes. Ward's Formula has been tried by more than 550,000 men and women on our famous Double-Your-Money-Back-Guarantee. Only 1.9% of these men and women were not helped by Ward's and asked for their double refund. This is truly an amazing performance. Treat your scalp with Ward's Formula. Try it at our risk. In only 10 days you must see and feel the marked improvement in your scalp and hair. Your dandruff must be gone. Your scalp itch must stop. Your hair must look more attractive and alive. Your hair loss due to seborrhea must stop. If your hair loss is the predominant male pattern baldness type, which neither our product nor anything else will help, accept Double Your Money Back for your trouble. If your hair loss is due to seborrhea, you must be delighted with the results. You must be completely satisfied, or simply return the unused portion for your double refund. We take all the risk. So why delay? Delay may cost your hair.

DIAMONDS of DEATH

From 1872 to 1890 I was sheriff of Conchero County with my headquarters at Wilton City. Of course a lot of things took place during that period of time. When I retired they gave me a big affair and presented me with a real silver loving cup. It has on it these words engraved:

"To Joe Slidell who upheld the law and order using his brains more than his gun."

The story I am going to tell you this time concerns a shipment of diamonds worth one million dollars. It happened in 1880 and I call it "Diamond of Death." By that time my reputation had spread through the west, and very few local problems existed. I had also developed a sort of philosophy as a law man. Let me just say this: In the long run any crook will outsmart himself. Somewhere along the line he will make a mistake, and if you are alert you will spot it.

It was a pleasant day and Martha came into the office. She always was looking for some excuse to visit me and had one definite objective in mind. That was to get me to change her last name to mine. Even the mayor of our town had gently hinted that whenever I set the wedding date the town would make the biggest affair in the West for you. Martha had swen some buttons on my shirts and was returning them to me when Lou Gasson ruhed into the office. At that time he was my acting deputy.

"There are about two dozen heavily armed Mexican soldiers outside of town. They have set up a camp. Are we at war with Mexico?"

If we were at war then this was news to me, because our relations with the neighboring republic to the South has been very peaceful for the past five years. I was trying to figure out what had happened when into my office walked Colonel Juan Lopez. We had both seen action together in an Indian fight and it was good to see him again. He looked around and it was sort of a gentle hint that he wanted to be alone with me.

"I'm going over to see Dr. Jones," remarked Martha.

"I think I better see if Dan shooed my horse," added my deputy.

So we were soon alone. Colonel Lopez handed me some papers. One from the State Department, stating that General Randolo would be in my vicinity with his bodyguard for a little while. To extend to him all courtesies possible. The other was a letter from the United States Marshal to me, reminding me that I was still a Deputy United States Marshal. To extend any help whatsoever should it be needed to General Randolo.

I had never met the General personally, but I knew he was the richest man in Mexico at that time. The Colonel suggested that I ride out to camp with him and meet the General. Also that they would send a wagon into town to purchase supplies. Believe me, I was curious, not only to meet this famous rich man but also to try to get an inkling about his visit. One thing bothered me. Why wasn't I notified beforehand?

A short ride outside of town and we were soon at the camp. The Colonel was very flattering in his introduction.

"They consider Sheriff Slidell the smartest man on this side of the border."

A table was set up and soon I found myself eating a variety of delicacies that had been imported from all over the world. I remained there for a period of about two hours. But I learned nothing, and I asked nothing. Then I rode back to town alone. For the next three days things were quiet. Then on the fourth day the General, the Colonel and two men rode into town and waited at the stage coach office. Sam Lampert was, at that time, in charge of the office. He certainly looked nervous as he waited for the noon stage to arrive. A half hour passed, then an hour, and then two hours.

"Something is wrong," he managed to say so the words got to my ears.

"If the stage had an accident then we'd better ride out," was my suggestion.

We rode north for an hour and we were greeted by the four stage horses. But no stage! It would appear that they had run away from the stage and were now tired. But what had happened to the stage? We rode for another hour and it was a terrible sight that greeted our eyes. Let me just say it consisted of shattered parts of the stage, and what was left of six human beings. I looked around and figured out what had happened.

There was a bend in the road and a small cliff on one side and a hill on the other. A gunpowder charge had been exploded at that point. The expected result would be to blow the stage and everything into pieces and over the cliff. It must have caught the tail end of the coach, killing all the occupants, the driver, and the shotgun messenger. But the horses were released and ran wild until tired.

"There is something I should know about this, General," I began. "I can help only if I know what I am looking for."

The Colonel and the General spoke rapidly in Spanish until suddenly the Colonel remembered one little fact; that I also spoke the same language fluently. The Colonel then quickly explained things to me in English.

"The General was going to give his young wife a surprise on their first wedding anniversary. He had with him a draft for a million dollars, to purchase the DuProchain Diamonds. They were arriving on this stage. But you see, alas, the stage never came."

I spent three hours checking around looking for some clue. And then I found a boot heel. Picked it up and checked some boot impressions. Evidently it came from the left boot of a riding boot worn by one of the men who had set the blast. There must have been at least three men in that group. No use trying to pick up a trail on barren rock. I put the heel into my pocket, and returned to the General.

"Why wasn't I told that the stage was carrying such a valuable cargo? This is my jurisdiction."

The only explanation I got was that the entire thing had been kept very secret to prevent any leak. Soon the telegraph lines were humming. By the end of the week the town was crowded with insurance men, reporters, and curiosity seekers. Thad Collins represented the insurance people. He came to me.

"We lose one million dollars on this deal. Somebody knew all about it. My company will pay you fifty thousand dollars if you can help us get those diamonds back, and we will see you get permission to take the reward. I will wire the governor."

I left town unobserved and headed north. Between the last stage station and the river was the small town of Cross Front. It was noted only for one thing: Burt Willis the famous bootmaker lived there. He made boots and shipped them all over the West, and he also repaired boots. I showed him the heel of the boot.

"Funny thing," he told me. "I fixed that boot day before yesterday. Fellow gave me ten dollars in gold to do a hurry job."

Burt gave me a complete description of the fellow. But I still had a better idea.

"Give you a hundred dollars to ride into town with me and just point him out."

"Things a bit slow now," drawled Burt. "That money will come in mighty handy."

So he rode into town with me and showed me the man. This man was William K. Harrison — the seller of the diamonds! The very man who was going to collect the insurance if the diamonds were not recovered. United States Marshal Hepburn was in town and I went into a huddle with him and talked some common

~~SENSE~~

"They blew up the stage to destroy something. And it wasn't the real diamonds you can bet on that. The diamonds the messenger carried were switched somewhere along the line. So he must have been in on the deal but was killed just the same. He didn't know they were going to blow up the stage. Probably figured on a hold-up."

We arrested Mr. Harrison and I explained how he figured out the entire thing. The messenger must have hidden the diamonds in a spot either in or around the last stage station. And then taken duplicate fake diamonds from the hiding place, which meant Mr. Harrison and his accomplices were also around. Then we removed the new heel from his boot, and Burt showed how the old nail holes were still present. Enough to convince any jury that Mr. Harrison was the guilty man. He confessed he thought he had a perfect plot to make a million. Not by selling the diamonds. Actually he wanted the insurance money and he would later sell the diamonds one by one in Europe. To do this he killed his own helper, the special guards inside the stage, and the two men on top. Perhaps he even planned to kill the other two men who had set off the gunpowder blast.

By special permission of the governor I was enabled to collect that big reward. And it made me very famous throughout the entire country. Martha had but one comment:

"Now you can support a family. So ask the question! Ask it!"

THE END

THE WATER-FINDER

THERE CAME A TIME IN THE WEST WHEN THE WINTER WAS COLD BUT THERE WAS NO SNOW... THEN, AS WINTER DIED AND WARMTH CREPT UP INTO THE HILLS, THE RAIN-CLOUDS DRIFTED ACROSS THE HIGH PLAINS... IT WAS THE GROWING TIME WHEN COLTS WERE FOALD AND FLOWERS BLOOMED AND THE BROWN, DRY GRASSES BECAME TENDER AND GREEN AGAIN! BUT THE RAIN-CLOUDS BEAUTIFUL AND REMOTE, DROPPED NO LIFE-GIVING SHOWERS ON THE PARCHED EARTH... SMALL ANIMALS DIED IN THEIR DUST-CHOKED BURROWS... THE DEER AND ELK AND BEAR WENT TO THEIR WATERING PLACES AND DIED THERE BECAUSE THE CAKED MUD OFFERED NO SUSTENANCE! ONLY BLACK FURY AND HIS RAMADA DRANK AT THE COOL, CLEAR SPRINGS... BECAUSE THE GREAT STALLION, LIKE ALL MUSTANGS, HAD AN UNBELIEVABLY KEEN SENSE OF SMELL! HE LED THEM TO WATER, THEN PROTECTED THEM FROM THE PREDATORS WHO FOLLOWED THEM DROOLING FOR FOOD!
